NEW BAPTISMAL FONT For

Duke Chapel

Duke University
Durham, North Carolina

Completed 2001

This New Baptismal Font was designed for The Congregation at Duke Chapel, an ecumenical congregation that serves the pastoral needs of those for whom Duke Chapel is the primary place of worship. The membership has grown to over 400 members of many denominational backgrounds. The Font's fine wooden millwork, of quarter-sawn white oak, incorporates several design components of the Gothic architecture already represented in Duke Chapel. The silver bowl was created by Cunill Silver-smiths, of Barcelona, Spain. Measuring 30 inches in diameter, the bowl is made of a single sheet of silver (from Mexico), overlaid with a silver cross and is large enough to allow for infant immersion.
