MASTER PLAN for THE EPISCOPAL CENTER at DUKE UNIVERSITY

Durham, NC

Master Plan 2001

This Master Plan for the Episcopal Center at Duke University is a plan to expand the current facilities to increase the residential component for students and visiting groups, to improve the chapel, to expand the office and conference facilities, and to create a pleasant, worshipful place for people to congregate both inside and outside on the large terraced entryway. We looked at a variety of options for expanding the center while maintaining its residential scale, refining the sense of entry to a calm and serene environment, improving the function of spaces in relation to one another, and making the chapel into a more sacred place of respite away from the bustle of university life.
