St. John the Divine Episcopal Church

Houston, Texas

Completed 2005

The interior of this 1950s era church was totally renovated to bring all systems up to date, improve the acoustics of the space, provide a new pipe organ (the largest in Texas), and provide a dignified and flexible chancel and choir. We designed all the furnishings in a style influenced by Frank Lloyd Wright's prairie architecture since the existing structure has overtones of Wright's influence. The woodwork is quarter sawn white oak with walnut accents and the pavement lights also have gold leaf for added sparkle.

The drawings shown here are some of the computer renderings prepared by our office to show the Client what the overall effect of the renovation would be when completed.
