SAINT MARK'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

Springfield, Virginia

Completed 1993

This project is located in the Washington, DC suburbs and involved the total renovation of this mid twentieth century church. The fiberglass clearstory panels were replaced with very colorful stained glass, the choir area was opened up to the nave for better acoustics and to make the choir more a part of the gathered congregation, a new lighting system was engineered, new furnishings designed, and a striking green marble backdrop for the chancel was provided. The processional cross fits into a fixed bronze cross that remains in the chancel and the new baptismal font was designed to include a blue Venetian glass mosaic bowl. The chancel and choir furnishings are movable to provide for maximum flexibility.
