Saint Peter's Episcopal Church

Savannah, Georgia

Completed 1995

This new church building is located just south of Savannah on Skidaway Island. The building's design tries to capture the feel of southern, coastal architecture rooted in the traditions of Savannah and Charleston. It is designed to seat 450 parishioners.

We were called in by Saint Peter's Parish to assist the local architect, Diedrich & Associates from Atlanta. As part of the design team we provided a master plan for the entire site, designed the overall appearance of the buildings, designed the worship space including lighting and furnishings and consulted through the entire construction of the recently completed sanctuary building.

The chancel furnishings and pews are solid mahogany and the chancel floor is North Carolina bluestone.
